Colombo wins second international design award

SGW is proud to announce that its Colombo Cordless Telephone has won a second design award issued by Universal Design Award.

Colombo won both Universal Design 2009 and Consumer Favourite Awards 2009 in this prestigious competition.

Coming soon after the IF award, the Universal Design Award further endorses the Colombo as the "must have" residential cordless telephone for design conscious, discerning consumers. For more information, please go to the link below:
